COURSE OPERATION AND STUDENT REGISTRATION

Step 1: Checking Eligibility

Before considering course enrollment, it is important to determine your eligibility for the desired program. Each university and course may have specific requirements, such as academic qualifications or language proficiency. Take the time to carefully review these prerequisites to ensure you meet the necessary criteria.

Step 2: Filling the University Application

Once eligibility is confirmed, the next step is to complete the university application form. This application serves as your introduction to the institution, providing essential information about your academic background, personal details, and program preferences. Fill out the form accurately and truthfully, as any discrepancies could negatively impact your application.

Step 3: Submitting the Application with Supportive Documents

In addition to the application form, you will be required to submit supportive documents. These may include academic transcripts, recommendation letters, a personal statement, and any other documentation specified by the university. Gather these documents in advance, ensuring they are complete and up to date. Submitting a well-prepared application strengthens your chances of securing admission.

Step 4: Payment Method

Upon submission of your application, you will need to follow the specified payment method to cover any required fees. Universities often have an application fee or deposit that needs to be paid to process your application. Familiarize yourself with the accepted payment methods and make the necessary arrangements to complete the transaction.

Step 5: Proceed with Registration

Once you have gained admission to the course, you will receive communication from the university. This communication will include your student username, which typically corresponds to your UEL ID number, and a password. Use these credentials to log in to the designated portal, such as UEL direct, where you will complete the online enrollment process.

Step 6: Online Enrolment

The online enrolment process typically involves providing additional personal information, selecting modules or courses, and confirming your acceptance of university policies. Ensure that you carefully review all the information provided and make accurate choices according to your preferences. AIMS College, for instance, will provide assistance and guidance to help you complete your online enrolment promptly.

Step 7: General Inquiries and Guidance

Throughout the course operation and student registration process, you may have questions or require further guidance. In such cases, it is advisable to contact the Administrative Office initially. They can provide valuable information and address general inquiries. If further assistance is needed, the Administrative Office will direct you to the appropriate contacts at the university, such as UEL. Ensure you follow their guidance to receive the necessary support.

Once you have gained admission to the course you must login to the UEL direct page using your student username which will be your UEL ID number and password and complete the on-line enrolment. AIMS COLLEGE will assist and ensure that you complete your online enrolment task promptly. UEL Direct is available at <https://www.uel.ac.uk/students> (click on 'new students')

COURSE MANAGEMENT

Here's an overview of how the course is managed on a daily basis:

Academic staff: The course is led by a Course Leader or Program Coordinator who oversees the overall management and delivery of the course. They work closely with other academic staff members who teach the modules and provide guidance and support to students. The academic staff are responsible for planning and delivering lectures, seminars, and workshops, as well as designing assessments and providing feedback to students.

Administrative staff: There are administrative staff members who support the day-to-day operations of the course. They handle administrative tasks such as student enrolment, timetabling, record-keeping, and communication with students.

Course Committees: Course Committees play a crucial role in managing the course and ensuring student participation and feedback. These committees typically include representatives from the academic staff, administrative staff, and student body. The specific committees may include:

Course Management Committee: This committee consists of academic staff and administrative staff who meet regularly to discuss the overall management and strategic direction of the course. They address issues related to curriculum development, resource allocation, and student support.

Module Evaluation Committee: This committee focuses on reviewing and evaluating the content, delivery, and assessment of individual modules. It may include module leaders, academic staff, and student representatives. They gather feedback from students, analyze module evaluations, and make recommendations for improvements based on the feedback received.

Student involvement: Student representation and feedback mechanisms are important aspects of course management. Students have the opportunity to participate in committees and provide input on various aspects of the course. This involvement ensures that their perspectives and concerns are considered in decision-making processes. Some ways students can be involved include:

Student representation on committees: Student representatives may be elected or appointed to serve on course committees. These representatives act as the voice of the student body, sharing their views, concerns, and suggestions during committee meetings.

Module evaluation: Students are encouraged to provide feedback on individual modules through evaluation forms or surveys. These evaluations help identify strengths and areas for improvement in teaching, assessment, and module content.

Student surveys: In addition to module evaluations, broader student surveys may be conducted to gather feedback on the overall student experience, course organization, and support services. These surveys provide valuable insights into student satisfaction and areas that need attention or enhancement.

These mechanisms ensure that student perspectives are considered, and appropriate actions are taken to address their feedback and improve the overall management and delivery of the BA (Hons) Education Top-up course.

Course Committees provide a formal structure for student participation and feedback on their course of study. Course committees provide a forum in which students can express their views about the management of the course, and the content, delivery and assessment of modules, in order to identify appropriate actions to be taken.

ATTENDANCE AND ENGAGEMENT

Attendance Policy: The institution has a clear attendance policy that outlines the expectations for student attendance and the consequences for non-attendance. The policy is communicated to all students at the start of the academic year, and it is available on the institution's website.

Tracking Attendance: The institution uses an electronic system to track student attendance. Students are required to scan their ID cards when they arrive at class, and this information is automatically recorded in the system. If a student is absent, the system sends an automatic email to the student and their academic advisor.

Student Support: The institution has a range of support services available to students who are struggling with attendance and engagement. This includes academic support services, counselling services, and mentoring programs.

Early Warning System: The institution has an early warning system in place to identify students who are at risk of falling behind. Faculty members are required to report any concerns about a student's attendance or engagement to the student's academic advisor, who will then reach out to the student to provide support and guidance.

Communication: The institution communicates regularly with students about the importance of attendance and engagement. This includes regular reminders via email and the institution's online learning platform.

Data Analysis: The institution regularly analyzes attendance data to identify trends and patterns. This information is used to inform the development of interventions and support programs to improve student attendance and engagement.

APPENDIX A: ACADEMIC APPEALS

Students who wish to appeal against a decision of an Assessment/Progression Board may appeal in accordance with the procedure for Appeals against Assessment Board decisions (Manual of General Regulations: Part 7 Appeals Against Assessment Board Decisions).

Disagreement with the academic judgement of a Board of Examiners' decision cannot, in itself constitute a reason to Appeal. Academic judgement is a judgement that is made about a matter where only the opinion of an academic expert will suffice. For example, a judgement about assessment or degree classification or a judgement about a decision where a student is required to repeat or take further assessment will usually be academic judgement, and a student cannot appeal simply because they believe they ought to have received a higher grade or mark. For further information on the scope of this procedure, please refer to Part 7 of the Manual of General Regulations.

Further information about the UEL appeals process, including copies of the formal Notification of Appeal Form, is available to view at <https://www.uel.ac.uk/Discover/Governance/Policies-Regulations-Corporatedocuments/Student-Policies/Student-Appeals>

To help you decide whether your query would be an Appeal or Complaint, please refer to <https://bit.ly/3tWo2ky>

If you would like to lodge a formal appeal or have any queries, please email the Institutional Compliance Office at appeals@uel.ac.uk

APPENDIX B: COMPLAINTS

If you feel that you have not received the standard of service which it would be reasonable to expect, you may be entitled to lodge a complaint. Complaints should be used for serious matters, and not for minor things such as occasional lapses of good manners or disputes of a private nature between staff and students

Separate procedures exist for the following, which therefore cannot form the substance of a complaint:

- appeals against the decisions of Assessment Boards (Manual of General Regulations: Part 7 Appeals Against Assessment Board Decisions);
- appeals against annual monitoring reviews, transfer of research degree registration or oral examination decision for postgraduate research students (Manual of General Regulations: Part 9 Research Degrees);
- appeals against the decisions of the Extenuation Panel (Manual of General Regulations: Part 6 Extenuating Circumstances);
- complaints against the Students' Union (see the Complaints Procedure in the Students' Union constitution);
- appeals against decisions taken under disciplinary proceedings (Manual of General Regulations: Part 12);
- complaints about businesses operating on University premises, but not owned by our university (contact the Deputy Vice-Chancellor and Chief Operating Officer);

- complaints about the behavior of other students (see Part 12 of the Manual of General Regulations This Manual);
- appeals against the decisions of Academic Misconduct Panels (see Part 8 of the Manual of General Regulations)
- appeals against the decisions of Attendance Appeal Panels (see the University's Attendance Policy).

Students wishing to submit a complaint must, in the first instance, follow the complaints policy of which aligns to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator's good practice framework (<https://www.oiahe.org.uk/media/96361/oia-good-practiceframework.pdf>). The AIMS COLLEGE complaints policy is available at: [insert link to collaborative partner complaints policy]

AIMS COLLEGE will administer all stages of its complaints policy and, upon exhaustion of this policy, will issue a formal letter to the complainant notifying them that its complaints policy has been exhausted. If the complainant is still not satisfied with the outcome they will be entitled to request that the University of East London undertake a review of their complaint.

The University of East London will conduct a review of the complaint in accordance with Stage 3 of its own Complaints Procedure. The University of East London Complaints Procedure is available at: <https://bit.ly/3NEcvyl>

The University of East London will administer the Stage 3 review in accordance with its Complaints Procedure and, upon completion of the review, will issue a Completion of Procedures Letter. If the complainant is still not satisfied with the outcome they will be entitled to make a complaint to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator.

Complainants are strongly advised to make every reasonable effort to resolve their complaint informally through meeting with the member of AIMS COLLEGE staff most directly concerned with the matter, such as the Course or Module Leader, before submitting a formal complaint.

Complaints must normally be lodged within the set time limits outlined in the relevant complaints policy. This ensures that the people involved still remember the case, and the facts can be established.

If you would like to request that the University of East London undertake a review, following the exhaustion of the AIMS COLLEGE complaints policy, please email the Complaints and Appeals Office at complaints@uel.ac.uk
